CHILDREN AT FORT OGLETHORPE TO HAVE GAY CHRISTMAS PARTIES

Dodge Colony of Army Folk Plans Community Dinner.

Dodge Colony of Army Folk Plans Community Dinner.

Elaborate preparations are being made for Christmas festivities at Fort Oglethorpe. The Christmas spirit seems to be unusually keen in the army circle, due to the recent signing of the armistice and the attendant feeling of joyousness. As some of the leaders of the activities have expressed themselves, "this is to be the children's Christmas, as the celebration last year was rather estinted, owing to the depression reigning over the entire country.

Novel invitations have been issued to all children of the officers and enlisted men to a Christmas party at the post gymnastum Wednesday morning at 3:30 o'clock.

Chaplain Bisbee, assisted by the members of the army post Red Cross auxiliary, is in charge of arrangements. The gymnastum will be decorated in the Christmas colors and Santa Claus will be present. Forty children have been invited, Children's Party.

Another party which promises to be very attractive will be the Christmas ever at the officers' club for the children of the medical officers. Mrs. William Hispham, wife of Col. Bispham: Mrs. Roger C. Brooke, wife of Col. Brooke, and Mrs. James Hall, wife of Capt. Hall, are in charge. The affair will be given Christmas eve. The club will be artistically decorated in holly, mistletoe and pine boughs. The gently will be connected with the Mayo clinic.

AT PINE BREEZE

Annual Party Wednesday—Public Invited to Send Gifts.

The annual Christmas tree for the children of Pine Breeze sanitarium is being arranged for Christmas morn-

Friends and members of the tuberculosis association usually contribute the gifts for the patients, but Miss Plewes, superintendent of the sanitarium, said she would gladly receive tarium, said she would gladly receive Hooker, W. R. McDuffie and G. Burn any gifts from Chattanoogans. A number of gifts, fruits and candles have been received at the sanitarium, but owing to the large number of patients will not be sufficient. Clothing is especially wanted by some of the invalids.

Eleven children, between the ages of 5 and 13 years old, and thirty grown people are now housed in the hospital.

Miss Plewes is anxious to have this Christmas party one of the best ever given at the hospital. Music and games will be enjoyed.

The First Presbyterian church is planning an attractive Christmas entertainment to be held Monday night. The chief feature of the evening will be a series of thileaux depleting the shepherds being led by the star and the visit of the wise men to the little Jesus. The tableaux will be interspersed with musical numbers. Immediately afterwards the children will be delighted by a visit from Santa Claus, carrying in his pack all kinds of goodies. The annual Christmas entertainment is looked forward to with great pleasure by both young and old.

SEEN IN A DAY

During the pouring rain a Chattanoogan who holds a public position, driving his own big touring car, reached a crossing of two main streets. At the same time a woman, walking and carrying an umbrella, also reached the crossing. The man in the luxurious car untouched by the rain, glanced at the woman and honked his horn, demanding right of way, and the woman meekly waited until the "kaiser" passed. Later in the morning at a busier street corner, another Chattanoogan at the wheel of his own car, stopped pointblank at some trouble with brakes, etc., in order to allow a woman to cross the street and so sooner finish her journey over the wet streets.

Sergts. Jones and Perkins have outdistanced all other contestants, and are spurring their horses to great efforts. The foam-fiecked sorrel of Jones is gaining on the magnificant black of Perkins, however, and is soon clearly ahead. Jones has staked all on the race, the audience knows it and cheers him as he gains. Then the pile of women's wear is reached, and the foremest ride? checks his horse and swings neatly to the ground. He has already unwrapped the package handed him by the time Perkins gets there, and there is a smile on his face, but this does not last leng. Several Lawyers Figure Of Entering Race for City Attorney.
While there are at present no announced candidates for city attorney to oppose Frank Carden, the incumbent, it is expected that one or two will enter the race before very long. The names of several young lawyers have been mentioned to make the race, but so far, none of them have consented to allow their names to be used. Mr. Carden has held the office one term, having defeated W. F. McGaughy ata the past election only by a narrow margin. The office is a good one and the salary makes it well worth while. Mr. Carden is an announced candidate to succeed himself.

Sport Gossip.

The Eleventh cavalry's field meet, scheduled for this afternoon, had to be postponed on account of the weather. We are sincerely sorry for this, as one of the events had been looked forward to with great piecasure by that working scribe. "Twas the "boudoir" race—described as follows by the solders:

"A large number of horsemen will participate, the contestants starting in as in an ordinary race, at the starter's signal. When a certain point is resched, they will have to dismount and will be given a package containing an article of feminine clothing. The cavalrymen will have to put on the garment, remount and continue the race. When the goal line has been passed, each will be inspected by competent judges, and those who have not put on their feminine costume correctly will be disqualified."

Here we enter absolute, positive obsections! where is the sense of justice and fair play that has formerly characterised the famous Eleventh. Just because a man does not know how to properly wear an intricate bit of lingeric, he may lose the race. It is all one-sided. The "ladies" men" will have the honors all to themselves, to the sad discomfiture of those who have went around with the wild women and are consequently ignorant. The following imaginary account of the race may be used to illustrate our point.

ECHO OF ROMANCE

ECHO OF ROMANCE.

Letter of inquiry Shows Attitude of French in Matrimonial Matters
An echo of the romance between a Chattanooga boy and a French maid, which shows the conservative attitude taken by French parents on the subject of matrimony, finds its way into the office of the mayor.

A letter was recently received from the consul-general of France, located at New Orleans, asking the mayor to confidentially investigate the status and family of a soldier from Chattanooga who won the heart and hand of a French maid while stationed in the land of the fleur-de-lis. The French official was making inquiry at the instance of the girl's parents.

Secretary Payne looked up the matter and incidentally gained an interesting sidelight on French public schools. The bride of the Chattanoogan, it seems, was a music teacher in the French primary schools before her marrisge. On learning that she had wed an American, the school authorities refused to let her continue in her position.

Writing to the family of Sergt.—her husband, the girl stated that she would probably come to America, here to teach music and French.

The marriage of this Chattanooga boy with a French girl brings up interesting speculations as to how many petite brides from our heroic allied country will come back with the American expeditionary forces. Certain it is that many lasting attachments have been formed during the Yanks' sojourn in France, and, no doubt, many of these will ripen into something more.
